Having signed the declaration and by continuing with your investment in our SDIO fund, you are confirming that you have read and understand the additional information set out below and that you accept all of our SDIO fund specific terms and conditions as set out above and in your Policy Conditions as part of your contract terms in relation to any investment into the SDIO fund that you make.

Additional disclosure material

In order to be eligible to select the Aviva SDIO fund, you must have at least the product specific minimum available, after any set up charges, for investment in this fund only. Except by virtue of a reduction in the value of the assets caused by investment performance/charges etc, you cannot reduce the amount to be held in the Account set up for your policy in the SDIO fund below the minimum.

When you invest in the SDIO fund additional charges and expenses will apply depending on what you ask us to invest in. Aviva sets the policy charges and the fund management charges of the SDIO fund. The Investment Manager sets the trading charges (dealing commission, custody fees and other management fees, etc.) for the service they provide. These charges are available on request and may only be changed if Aviva agrees to a change. Where relevant any selected Structured Investment Product Provider sets all the charges within their structured product and these charges are available on request from them.

Aviva is not responsible for third party charges that may apply to investments you select in the SDIO fund. You should read Aviva's policy and fund charges, the Investment Manager's trading charges and the Structured Product Provider's brochure and key features document carefully and discuss any issues you have on this subject with your Financial Broker.

Suitability and risk warnings

The primary objective of your pension is to provide you, the policyholder, with a retirement income or with a fund at retirement to purchase your retirement benefits. You need to consider if investing in the Aviva SDIO fund, along with any other pension arrangements you may have, will meet your pension objectives. In addition, you should also consider, amongst other issues, your risk appetite, if applicable the number of years you have to retirement, the extent of diversification you have across all your pension arrangements, and your own personal and financial circumstances.

If investing in SDIO,
Please sign and date

You should also consider professional advice from a Financial Broker in order to ensure that you can make an informed choice. Aviva is not liable for any loss caused to your policy as a result of the performance of the investment funds in which you choose to invest.

Once invested in a pre or post retirement pension product, you will be restricted to taking your retirement benefits in a form allowed under that product including, in a pre-retirement product, waiting until retirement before you can reap the benefits of your investments. In addition, there are limits to the amount you can invest and accumulate within a pension product, and these limits need to be borne in mind so that you do not over provide for your retirement and suffer additional tax charges.

The risk of loss when trading in equities can be substantial. You should therefore carefully consider whether such trading is suitable for you in the light of your financial circumstances. In particular, you should consider whether such an investment is appropriate to provide you with a retirement income or to fund for your retirement pension. In considering whether to trade or to authorise someone else to trade for you, you should be aware of the following;

- If you purchase a security, you may sustain a substantial loss if the share price falls significantly;
- Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to sell your investments quickly;
- If you instruct the Investment Manager to buy shares that are not denominated in Euros, you face a foreign exchange exposure risk; and
- Unless you take steps to ensure that you have a well-diversified portfolio of securities, your portfolio is likely to have a higher level of risk than the average balanced fund offered by life assurance companies.

If you decide to select a fixed term investment, you may not be able to redeem this investment prior to or at your chosen retirement age, which may significantly delay the availability of your retirement benefits. Therefore, you should seriously consider the proposed timeframe for any investment relative to when you think you might want to start your retirement benefits.

If your investment in our SDIO fund is part of a portfolio of occupational pension scheme investments linked to the same employment, then you must take all of these retirement benefits at the same time. A fixed term investment, that cannot be redeemed, is likely to prevent you from taking pension benefits from any of the pension investments that are connected with the same employment.

Important considerations for Investors in the Aviva SDIO fund:

Aviva does not assess either the appropriateness or the quality of the investments selected by you for inclusion in the SDIO fund, Aviva will accept investments within the SDIO fund where it can satisfy itself that the investment can be administered appropriately within the SDIO fund.

Aviva takes no responsibility for the additional charges for specific investments, the performance of investments in the SDIO fund or the extent to which the investments you select meet your needs. We would therefore strongly recommend that you consider all appropriate factors before committing to using the SDIO fund and in making any investment within it.

In particular we suggest that you consider, with your Financial Broker, all aspects pertinent to the decision to invest including but not limited to;

- you understand what returns are likely and what effect various factors (economic, regulatory etc) will have on returns in the future;
- you ensure that you understand all of the aspects of the investments you are selecting including charges and penalties;
- you consider all risks pertaining to the investments you select. If you do not make any investment selections your contributions remain in cash deposits (non-interest bearing) and you should consider any risks to cash deposits including security of the holding Bank and depreciation of the value in real terms over time;
- you understand the risks of all investments you select including but not limited to liquidity, security of 3rd parties, concentration, tax risk, currency risk, volatility risk any gearing risk and properly understand the chances that your investments may not meet your investment goals;
- you should ensure that you get and understand full and appropriate disclosures of risks, costs and commissions from your Financial Broker(s);

- you understand how you will achieve an optimum risk return balance and how the investments you have selected compare from a value point of view with alternatives;
- you understand why the benefits of the SDIO fund are worth the additional costs to you compared with other ways of accessing the underlying investments (for example, through a pooled asset fund);
- you are clear on why you are investing in a self directed fund. This type of fund is most suitable for people who do not want to use pre-packaged investments or who have funds large enough to diversify their investments sufficiently or have specific expertise and views on specific investments. It is of most value for investors who want to vary their investments;
- particularly where you are investing in structured products, it is the obligation of your Financial Broker to provide specific information on risks for certain investments you make
 - you should ensure that you get and understand this from your Financial Broker;
- you understand the charges you are paying on the underlying investments (e.g. fees, fund management and investment charges and commissions for advice, broking and sourcing) and that your Financial Brokers explain any implicit charges (e.g. guarantee cost and other deductions within structured products);
- you are aware of the involvement of any parties advising on or supplying investments or investment services within the SDIO fund;
- you abide by any regulations requiring or limiting your investments by amount or type; and
- you should obtain independent financial advice if you do not understand any aspects of the SDIO.
