Product Description

A Personal Retirement Bond is a personally held bond purchased in the name of the beneficiary in lieu of an entitlement to claim benefits under an Occupational Pension Scheme. A Personal Retirement Bond is independent of any sponsoring employer. It is set up to receive a transfer value from an occupational pension scheme, another Personal Retirement Bond and/or overseas pension arrangement. Benefits from a Personal Retirement Bond are payable in accordance with the rules of the original occupational scheme from which the assets were transferred. The Davy Personal Retirement Bond is issued under contract and is approved by the Revenue Commissioners under the Taxes Consolidation Act 1997.

Beneficial Ownership

You should note that you are the beneficial owner of the assets of the Davy Personal Retirement Bond.

Underlying Investments

Each Davy Personal Retirement Bond has a portfolio of assets which you manage on a self-directed (execution-only) basis. This approach enables you, as the Personal Retirement Bond holder, to have access to the investment services available through Davy, only subject to strict compliance with prevailing restrictions on eligible investments for occupational pensions funds. The manner by which we will act for you, the terms which apply to our relationship, the way in which Davy will hold assets on your behalf and other features of our execution service are set out in our Execution-Only Service Terms for Intermediary Clients.

Once you have chosen a Davy Personal Retirement Bond, you can then choose the underlying investments (subject to compliance with relevant pension investment guidelines) that will make up your portfolio over the life of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond. Each underlying investment will have its own terms and conditions, as well as charges. Please note that all underlying investments that will make up your Davy Personal Retirement Bond account are separate investments to the investment of funds into the Davy Select PRB (Execution-Only).

All underlying investments will incur separate fees and charges, which will impact on your overall retirement benefit. Please see details of the applicable Davy Fees & Charges, as contained in the Execution-Only Service Terms.

Eligibility

A Personal Retirement Bond is available to individuals that hold retained benefits in an occupational pension scheme from a previous employment, subject to Trustees' approval, in another Personal Retirement Bond contract and/or overseas pension arrangement.

A Personal Retirement Bond is also available to individuals who are entitled to pension benefits arising from Occupational Pension Schemes, PRSAs or Retirement Annuity Contracts arising from a Pension Adjustment Order.

Contributions

Contributions cannot be made to a Personal Retirement Bond. A Personal Retirement Bond may only accept a transfer from one of the pension arrangements listed below.

Transfers from Other Pension Arrangements

Transfers can be accepted from other pension arrangements including:

- other Personal Retirement Bonds approved by the Revenue Commissioners;
- from Occupational Pension Schemes approved by the Revenue Commissioners in line with scheme rules; and
- from Occupational Pension Schemes, PRSAs or Retirement Annuity contracts as a result of a Pension Adjustment Order;
- an overseas pension plan approved by the relevant overseas pension authority.

Tax Relief

No contributions are accepted into a Davy Personal Retirement Bond so tax relief is not applicable.

Tax on Investment Growth

Your Davy Personal Retirement Bond portfolio grows over the life of your bond free of Irish income tax, capital gains tax, DIRT, exit tax from collective investment funds, DWT (Dividend Withholding Tax) and exit tax from life policies (except in relation to certain overseas investments which may be subject to tax).

Statutory Investment Restrictions

Your Davy Personal Retirement Bond is issued under contract and is approved by Revenue Commissioners under s772 of the Taxes Consolidation Act. Section 779A of the Taxes Consolidation Act deems certain investment transactions to be a pension payment subject to PAYE and requiring the removal of the assets involved from your Davy Personal Retirement Bond portfolio.

Information Provided After Contract Inception

Once your Davy Personal Retirement Bond account is opened we will provide you with the following at inception:

- A Statement of Reasonable Projection
This statement will be sent to you once the transfer from transferring scheme/other Personal Retirement Bond has been received by the Davy Personal Retirement Bond. This outlines the benefits that can be reasonably expected to accrue from your Davy Personal Retirement Bond.

Valuations/Statements

Over the life of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond, you will receive:

- Quarterly Portfolio Valuations

Retirement Age

You can take benefits from the Normal Retirement Age of the transferring Occupational Pension Scheme/Personal Retirement Bond /Overseas Pension Arrangement (this can be from age 60 to age 70). In certain circumstances, you may be able to take retirement from age 50 or over or if you can no longer work because of a serious illness or disability.

Note: Benefits must be taken under this contract at the same time as benefits are taken from any other schemes or contracts associated with the original employment.

Retirement Benefit Options

The amount of your benefits on retirement depends on the transfer value paid into your Davy Personal Retirement Bond, the investment return earned on your portfolio, and Revenue limits and restrictions.

The Davy Personal Retirement Bond offers flexible retirement options which are payable in accordance with the rules of the original occupational pension scheme from which benefits were transferred. You may be entitled to take benefits in one of two ways:

OPTION 1

- A once-off lump sum of up to one and half times final salary (based on your service with your previous employer)¹; and
- The balance of the fund must be used to purchase an annuity.

OPTION 2

- A once-off lump sum of up to 25% of the value of the assets¹; and
- The balance of the assets can be transferred to an Approved Retirement Fund ('ARF') in your name. Further details of retirement options are contained in the retirement options statement.

Note: It is a condition of approval by Revenue that benefits provided from this contract are subject to the Revenue maximum benefits limit that applies to the occupational scheme or arrangement from which benefits were transferred.

Under Option 1 above, your lump sum entitlement shall only be payable provided that Davy has received evidence of your 'Final Remuneration'.

Final Remuneration is defined as:

(i) Basic remuneration over any twelve month period of the five years preceding the date of leaving service, plus the average of any fluctuating emoluments over three or more consecutive years ending on the date of leaving service.

Or:

(ii) The average of the total emoluments for any three or more consecutive years ending not earlier than 10 years before the date of leaving service.

Or:

(iii) The rate of basic pay at the relevant date or at any date within the year ending on that date plus the average of any fluctuating emoluments calculated as in (i) above.

In the case of 20% directors only option (ii) can be taken. 20% director means someone who directly or indirectly at any time in the last three years owned or controlled more than 20% of the voting rights in the employer company, or in the parent company of the employer company.

Where the required documents have not been provided to Davy, we reserve the right to restrict your lump sum entitlement (potentially to zero) and require you to use the total portfolio value to either transfer the equivalent amount to an Approved Retirement Fund (if eligible); or purchase an annuity.

Standard Fund Threshold (STF)

You can accumulate tax relievable retirement funds, from all sources since 7th December 2005, but excluding State benefits, up to the Standard Fund Threshold, which is €2.0 million with effect on 1st January 2014. The STF is due to increase by €200,000 each year from 2026 to 2029 and increase with inflation from 2030 thereafter.

To the extent that the value of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond exceeds this limit when you take your benefits, a chargeable excess tax (currently 40%) of the value of your benefits in excess of the limit will be deducted from your Davy Personal Retirement Bond before providing retirement benefits to you.

Taxation of the Retirement Lump Sum

Your lump sum entitlement (which takes account of all pension lump sums taken since 7th December 2005) is subject to the limits as outlined below:

- First €200,000 is exempt from income tax.
- Next €300,000 is subject to the standard rate of income tax (currently 20% in 2024). Any excess will be subject to marginal rate of income tax (currently 40%), USC and PRSI (if applicable).

Benefits on Death

In the event of your death before you take benefits from the Davy Personal Retirement Bond, the full value of your portfolio at the date of payment will be transferred to your estate but may be subject to ¹ Please see 'Taxation of Retirement Lump Sum' for further details.

Inheritance Tax in the hands of your beneficiaries where inherited by a beneficiary who is not your spouse or civil partner at the date of your death.

The death benefits payable will be based on the value of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond at the date of payment. The date of payment is dependent upon factors such as the date a grant of probate or letters of administration are issued and the benefits payable may be more or less than the value of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond at the date of death.

Transfers to Another Pension Arrangement

The full value of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond is available to transfer to another pension arrangement such as:

- Other Personal Retirement Bonds approved by the Revenue Commissioners;
- To the Trustees of another Occupational Pension Scheme approved by the Revenue Commissioners if you are now a Member of this scheme;
- To UK Statutory Schemes, UK exempt approved occupational pension schemes and UK personal pension arrangements only.

There are no charges for transferring your benefits out of the Davy Personal Retirement Bond.

Divorce or Legal Separation

The assets in your Personal Retirement Bond may become subject to a court order, following a decree of divorce or legal separation. Your spouse may, as a result, become entitled to a specific proportion of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond. Such court orders can also be made for the benefit of parties other than your spouse (e.g. dependents).

Payments to Third Parties

Where requested by you, a payment will be made from your PRB account to a third party, such as your financial adviser, in respect of advice or other services provided to you in respect of this PRB account. While Davy may facilitate and arrange for this payment to be made, any payment to a third party is subject to the agreement in place between you and that third party and Davy is not a party to that agreement.

Product Costs and Charges

Please see the applicable Davy Fees & Charges, as contained in the Execution-Only Service Terms for intermediary clients.

No Capital Protection

Capital is not protected. If you invest in this product you may lose some or all of the money you invest.

Liquidity/Access

You will not have access to your money until you reach your chosen retirement age. This is a long-term investment product.

Some Potential Risk Factors

PRODUCT RISK

You are responsible for making some or all of the investment decisions in relation to your Personal Retirement Bond. Your choices may not be the best options. As a result, there is a risk that the Personal Retirement Bond may be underfunded and/or the value may be insufficient at retirement so that your long-term retirement needs may not be met. It is important that you seek your own professional advice prior to making any decisions which have tax, legal or other financial implications.

INVESTMENT RISK

The value of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond at retirement will depend on the original transfer value and the investment return achieved over the life of your Personal Retirement Bond. The investment return is not guaranteed. The value of your investment may go down as well as up.

ACCESS TO FUNDS

In most cases you cannot access your Personal Retirement Bond portfolio before your Normal Retirement Age.

INFLATION RISK

Bond schemes are a long term investment and the effect of inflation can erode any 'real' investment returns over time.

Changes

If we are obliged to change the terms of your Davy Personal Retirement Bond due to relevant legislative changes and/or changes in Revenue practice, we will write to you as soon as practicable outlining the impact of the changes for you.

WARNING: The information contained herein is provided for Irish resident investors only and is based on our understanding of Irish tax legislation and the known current Revenue interpretation thereof. This can vary according to individual circumstances and is subject to change without notice including retrospectively. It is intended as a guide only and is not a substitute for professional advice. Non-resident applicants should seek appropriate advice on the implications for them in Ireland and in their country of residence, both now and at retirement age, before proceeding with this application. You should consult your tax advisor for the rules that apply in your individual circumstances.
